Instructions for Contributors

Holocaust and Genocide Studies welcomes the submission of manuscripts for editorial consideration. Submission involves the tacit assurance that the material has not been published and will not be simultaneously submitted or published elsewhere. To be accepted for publication, articles must pass peer review by at least two experts in the field. Manuscripts that are narrowly focused or particularly technical may be published as research notes.

Submission of Manuscripts

Authors should submit their manuscripts through the journal's online submission system at https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/hgs. If this is not possible authors may contact the editorial team at academicpublications@ushmm.org.

In general, manuscripts should follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 17th edition. Article manuscripts should be no more than 12,000 words, including notes. In addition to English, manuscripts may be submitted in French, German, Hebrew, Polish, Russian, or Spanish. The editors will consider manuscripts in other languages.

It is the responsibility of the author to obtain written permission (including payment of fees) to reprint or reproduce any material (including text, charts, tables, photographs, illustrations, etc.) that is under copyright, and to supply such permissions when submitting the manuscript.

Authors of articles will receive one complimentary copy of the issue in which their work appears. Book review authors will receive an accessible link to their article.

Reference Note Style

Notes should appear at the end of the article in numbered order and prepared following the style in the examples below. Notes should be embedded and note markers should appear in the text as superscripts.
