CONTENTS

EDITORIAL NOTE

The Winner of the 2022 ISS-OUP Prize
Kenneth Mori McELWAIN
1

GENERAL ARTICLES

Doing Intimacy in Pandemic Times: Findings of a Large-Scale Survey Among Singles in Japan
Nora KÖTTMANN and Laura DALES
3

Hate on the Bookshelves: Explaining the Phenomenon of Anti-Korean Hate Books in Japan
Ulf HANSSEN and Eun Hee WOO
27

Social Identification and Redistribution Preference: A Survey Experiment in Japan
Katsunori SEKI
47

The Gender Gap in the Returns From College Education in Japan: The Impact of Attending a High-Ranking College
Wei LI, Kunio URAKAWA, and Fumihiko SUGA
61

Workers, Neighbours, or Something Else? Local Policies and Policy Narratives of Technical Intern Training Program Participants
Yunchen TIAN
77

Ties of Possibility: Selecting Future Founders in Tokyo’s Start-up Ecosystem
By R. FRENKENBERGER
93

BOOK REVIEWS

Downloaded from https://academic.oup.com/ssjj/issue/26/1 by guest on 19 September 2023
Social Science Japan Journal

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Kenneth Mori MCELWAIN, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo

Associate Editors
Stephanie ASIMANN-TERADA, Institute of Hyogo
Yukari IWANAMI, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Kenji INISHI, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Mayo MORIMOTO, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Kei NAKAMMA, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Gregory NOBLE, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Masahiro SHOH, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo
Eric WEESE, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo

Managing Editor
Meredith SHAW, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo

Book Review Editor
Sebastian MASLOW, scinda Shirayuri Women's College

Regional Champions

David CHEVACCI (Europe), University of Zürich
Otra GOLDSTEIN-GIDONI (Middle East), Tel-Aviv University
Gabriele VOGT (Europe), University of Hamburg
Gavin H. WHITELAW (North America), Harvard University

International Editorial Board
Allison ALEX, University of Michigan
Celeste AARRINGTON, George Washington University
Simon AVENIEL, Australia National University
Andrew BASHAR, University of California, Berkeley
Thomas BLACKWOOD, Tokyo International University
Verena BLECHINGER-TALCOTT, Free University of Berlin
Emma COOK, Hokkaido University
Toms GILL, McGill University
Carol GLUCK, Columbia University
Andrew GORDON, Harvard University
Dougling GUO, Fudan University
Enid HARARI, Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Ken HAYASHI, University of Tokyo
Glenn HOOK, University of Sheffield
Jane HUNTER, London School of Economics
Takashi INOGUCHI, University of Nagata Prefecture

Elds.

Rules and Guidelines for Manuscript Submission

Manuscript Submission
Submitted manuscripts must not have been previously published, or scheduled or submitted for publication, in any form, printed or electronic. Manuscripts containing material that substantially overlaps with any other existing or scheduled publications are unacceptable. Contributors must draw attention to any overlap which may be viewed as problematic in the covering letter accompanying their submission. Manuscripts will be reviewed by appropriate readers. While we welcome comparative studies, all manuscripts must relate principally or substantively to Japan. Priority is given to authors who address questions that either bring Japanese and other language sources. They should be written in English or Japanese and should not exceed 10,000 words or 48 gekiyo yōshi (including tables, figures, notes, illustrations and references). An abstract of 108–210 words should accompany the manuscript. Tables, figures and illustrations should be of good quality, suitable for digital reproduction. Manuscripts must be submitted online via the journal's new submission system http://ms.manuscriptcentral.com/mnj.

Manuscript Preparation
An anonymous review system is used, so please make every effort to keep the text of the manuscript as anonymous as possible. If you need to cite your own work, please use ‘Nishida (1990)’ rather than ‘I claimed …’ or ‘I acknowledged …’

Acknowledgements should appear on a separate title page with your name(s) and institutional affiliation(s). In principle, we discourage excessive footnoting and citing of other works in book reviews. This policy is not followed as rigidly in the case of review essays. If, however, you do decide to refer to other published materials, please follow this style:

References in the text—Please cite the last name of the author(s), year of publication, followed by colon and page number(s). If the name of the author is in the text, follow it with year of publication, colon and page number(s). If the name of the author is not in the text, enclose the last name and year of publication. Examples: ‘Okada (1990: 128–129) concluded’; ‘…Ujihara, Takanashi, and Yamamoto 1968: 15); ‘…Recent work (Tamaoki 1991; Toshitani forthcoming) show...’

References follow the text in a separate section with a heading ‘References’. Japanese and other non-English titles should be followed by brief translations.

Examples:

Books

Periodicals

Collections
Yamazaki, Hiroshi. 1991. ‘Nihon Kigyo shi Jutsu’ (An Introductory History of Japanese Firms). In Genroku Nihon Shiri (New Japanese-English Dictionary modified Hepburn system in Kenkyusha’s in the case of Western names, the family name should be second (e.g., President Bill Clinton). Macrons on Japanese words, except otherwise requested. In the case of Japanese names, the family name should be first (e.g., Prime Minister Koizumi Jun’ichirō); and for indexing and citation purposes, the name(s) of the author, and the names of authors listed in the references, should be written in English-language order.

On Spelling, Macrons, Romanization

Examples:

On Footnotes and Tables

Notes should appear as footnotes at the bottom of each page. Tables, figures and illustrations should be numbered consecutively throughout the text and should appear at the end of the manuscript. Under each item, the author should include a heading for the ‘Source’ and any additional ‘Notes’. The author must obtain permission to quote from or reproduce copyright material prior to the submission of the final manuscript, and should include proper acknowledgements in the manuscript.

On Spelling, Macrons, Romanization

Edglish or American spelling may be used as long as it is used consistently throughout the manuscript. For inducing and citation purposes, the name(s) of the author, and the names of authors listed in the references, should be written in English-language order.

Within the body of the manuscript, however, names should appear in the order they appear in the person’s native language, unless otherwise requested. In the case of Japanese names, the family name should be first (e.g., Prime Minister Koizumi Jun’ichirō), and in the case of Western names, the family name should be second (e.g., President Bill Clinton). Macrons on Japanese words, except for common place names such as Tokyo, should be clearly indicated in the manuscript (e.g., obach). Japanese words should be italicized, except when they are so well known they can be found in a comprehensive English dictionary (kōshū, kōriki, kōa, etc.), and except when they are proper names of places, people, companies, and established organizations. Romanization should adopt the modified Hepburn system in Kenkyusha’s (New Japanese-English Dictionary (editions other than abeke, a not on, a not for, etc.). When the manuscript is accepted for publication, the author is responsible for making the manuscript adhere to these guidelines before submitting the final copy.